NOTE

The manual of this teaching program on Hypnosis is copyright; it is deemed that it would not be proper to release it for information purposes.

However, a synopsis will achieve the goal of sharing the information about this program.

This teaching program in NSP Hypnosis will be conducted in the form of a series of workshops.

Each day of the workshop will be from 9.30 AM – 4.30 PM

Each workshop will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The first workshop will begin in September 2012 and every month thereafter.

The time between the workshops is to allow the students to co-study with their fellow students in their study groups.

The works, Power and Elegance in Communication and The Knife Without Pain are to be deemed critical adjunct reference books to the manual proper of this workshop.

At the end, the aim of this workshop is to graduate a student who can create his own induction protocols without reference to scripts. Such a student will be masterfully confident in his hypnotizing.

The presenters reserve their right to modify the exercise of the teaching program.

Faculty of this Teaching Program

Jennifer K. Chong, RN, PHN, CH, MPNLP
Fellow of the Society of Neuro-Semantics

In the 1970s she was a visiting faculty member of the Ontario Society of Clinical Hypnosis¹. She was on to the National Guild of Hypnotists². She was a contributing author to its Journal of Hypnotism for some 5 years. She has taught at the International Hypnosis Society in its respective congresses in San Diego, Singapore and Munich and to the 8th World Psychiatric Congress in Madrid. Currently she is on the faculty of the International Medical and Dental Hypnotherapy Association and the Mid-America Hypnosis Conference.

She is the co-author of the critical book on surgery by Hypnosis, The Knife Without Pain. She is the co-creator and co-developer of the field of study known as Neuro-Semantic Programming.

She was the co-researcher with Dennis of the model to get surgical Hypnoanaesthesia. There is a videotape of an operation that is the companion of the book, The Knife Without Pain. This work maps how the model is to be done.

She then co-researched with Dennis the model to invert a cancer. When the model finally found a patient upon whom it could be applied she contributed in the clinical work to bring about the success test that the model did work. This case has been written up and posted in the website:

<http://www.neuro-semanticprogramming.com/>

The article contains the signed and witnessed confirmation by the patient of all the clinical work that was done for her.

She received the 2009 Research Award of the National Guild of Hypnotists.

Finally she is the co-creator and developer of the new field of study known as:

Neuro-Semantic Programming, NSP.

¹ Ontario Society of Clinical Hypnosis:

In the late 1980s, there were certain irregularities of a critically significant nature that took place. It was entailed the involution of the Society.

² National Guild of Hypnotists:

The Guild informed the Chongs that they were to submit all their articles on Hypnosis to its journal and none other if they wished to be continuing contributing authors to the Journal of Hypnotism. If they agreed to this then the Guild would in effect get complete control of all their articles and research material. They could not agree to this and they elected to walk away from the Guild. This is to say that they have never resigned from the Guild.

Dennis K. Chong, MD, CH, MPNLP
Fellow of the Society of Neuro-Semantics
Fellow of the American Board of Psychotherapy

Elective Teacher in Clinical Hypnosis to the Medical School, McMaster University

He was once a Board Member of the Ontario Society of Clinical Hypnosis and its faculty member. He was a faculty member of the National Guild of Hypnotists and a member of its Advisory Board. Currently he is on the faculty of the International Medical and Dental Association and the Mid-America Hypnosis Conference. He has lectured at the University of Toronto, OISE, Brock and York. He has also lectured in Munich, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia and at the Polytechnic University of Hong Kong.

He was the co-researcher with Jennifer of the model to get surgical Hypnoanaesthesia; and was he presided at the 18th operation in which the model was tested with success again; and which was videotaped. This videotape of this operation is the companion to the book, The Knife Without Pain. This work maps how the model is to be done. He then co-researched with Jennifer the model to invert a cancer. When the model finally had a patient upon whom it could be applied, he co-contributed in the clinical work to bring about the test that the model did work. This Teaching program will take the form of 4 weekend workshops that take will take place once every month in which the body material will be taught to the student.

For the sake of the student, this workshop requires as large a number of registrants since one critical vehicle of learning is the study groups that the student is to be a part of in which the richness of learning is a direct function of the number of other students in which he can interact and exchange.

Workshop I: History of Hypnosis

Certain Requisite Essential Background Fundamentals

In any field of study, there are certain requisites that the student is to learn in order to undertake the study. A very simple example is Accountancy. It is taken that the student who wants to study this subject has already been taught how to add and subtract and he knows their respective tables.

A pre requisite for a student of this program is that they will have completed the Freedom Seminar, the De-Imprinting and the Power Seminar and is therefore familiar with the A and Ã language systems, 3M, IL and the language system of the ~Y Frame³.

Certain other essential requisites will also be taught to the student.
