Workshops, Seminars Teachings, Lectures

A piece of good advice.

Whatever and wherever you study, and study with other students, the unspoken problem is to be ahead of the curve. For this you have to read. And the reading is not only of the text books that we have written or will write, but it is also of the monographs and articles we have written.

Thus, my elder daughter is a BA, LIB and MBA with a slew of other certificates. And my younger daughter is a BSc, ND, MB, BS and CCFP with a slew of other certificates. We want our students to equal them.

They may do breakthrough discoveries or they may encounter irksome blocks.

Whatever the case may be they are to serve notice to either Jennifer or Dennis that they would like a symposium in which they may share their findings or the puzzles they have found.

At Trainer status you may be invited to join the Division of Research and Development, (DORAD) of NSP.
